Q1 - What were strengths of the lecture given by Sid on Friday?

What were strengths of the lecture given by Sid on Friday?

It was not super structured as a lecture so he was able to answer questions and spend a good amount of time explaining the points most of the class wasn't understanding.

His work is easy to follow and he is great at making sure everyone understands what he is lecturing on.

Sid did a good job of taking the material at a pace to make sure everyone could follow his work and explanations

Sid was very clear and direct in his delivery, used the blackboard effectively, made jokes to keep us engaged, and explained the A/G factor very effectively while addressing potential points of confusion.

Well prepared and was able to explain the material and answer questions very well.

He was very confident and knew what he was doing and had a fun (Star Wars themed) activity prepared which was awesome!

Spoke loudly and clearly

Explained the concepts well

Kept everyone engaged and on topic

He was clear with what he was saying, also showed slightly different thought process than normally seen.

Q2 - What were the weaknesses of the lecture given by Sid?

What were the weakness of the lecture given by Sid on Friday?

He was a little hasty to answer questions and sometimes he didn't fully understand what the confusion behind a question was in order to give a helpful answer.

Slow down when talking, at times it got hard to follow what he was doing because he would get caught up in the moment and some of the material became difficult to follow.

trouble understanding some students questions. Not necessarily his fault.

None

I liked it, but maybe we could get more time to work by ourselves before we got the answer so that we would have more time to try and figure it out ourselves.

A little more time to work through the assignment before going over the answer would've been helpful! Other than that he did great!

None really, I guess I felt like he almost took too long for us to do the problems before he would start on the board sometimes.

Q3 - Provide some any additional feedback/recommendations/comments.

Provide some any additional feedback/recommendations.

When asking a question it's fairly normal for students to not respond to them, I would just say instead of waiting a long amount of time just move on because we are all thinking about them in our heads but probably don't really know the answer.

We ended class a little early and I wouldn't have minded if we spent the rest of the class going over more examples.

Thank you for being a great TA!

nada

Just slow down a little more, as I know it's easy to speak faster when you get comfortable and you know what you are lecturing.

College students LOVE getting out of class a couple of minutes early, but I would've preferred that class stay "in session" and gone over one of the trickier homework questions, or test format, just to add more work time to the next lecture!

Q6 - Overall, how do you rate the lecture on a scale 0-10 where 0 is very poor and 10 is excellent?
